Copyright and reproduction

We do ask that you sign the 'Licence to publish in Serials', which grants exclusive right of first publication to UKSG. One year after publication in Serials there will be open access to the content via the UKSG website. If authors wish to have access to the PDF via their own website or institutional repository, that can also be arranged after publication.

Submission of papers

The preferred medium is electronic and text should be e-mailed to ally@uksg.org. The most compatible format is Word, sent as an e-mail attachment. Text should be keyed without layout apart from paragraph breaks, with all headings in lower case, ranged left, each heading on a separate line. Please do not use footnotes embedded in the text. References (see below) are preferable to extensive footnotes. Illustrations are welcomed, but please provide captions and ensure copyright clearance if appropriate. See below for technical details.

Figures

Please supply figures and graphics as .tif or .eps files that can be imported into QuarkXpress and reproduced in black and white, or include a hard copy that can be scanned. Alternatively, a high resolution PDF may be supplied. Figures may be embedded in Word documents but as a guide to placement only, or placement can be indicated by <Figure 1>.

Tables

Please place tables at the end on separate pages. Use only one tab between columns. Indicate approximate placement in text by <Table 1>.

PowerPoints/screenshots

Please send these in a separate PowerPoint file, together with a note of the original URL which should be freely accessible, i.e. not password-protected.

Photographs

Photographs should be of high resolution (at least 300 dpi) and the original of reasonable size (a minimum size of 4cm × 6cm). If sending a print, e-mail ally@uksg.org for mailing address.

References

Please use superscript numbers in the text to refer to numbered references at the end, i.e. these should be listed in the order in which they appear, not in alphabetical order of author.

Journal reference style:

1. Smith, A B, Total Quality Management, Serials, 1993, 6(3), 16–22.

Book reference style:

Abstract

Please provide an abstract of papers and articles of approximately 100–150 words.

Photographs and author's contact details

Please supply an author photo if submitting an article (see specification for photographs above). The author's full affiliation and correspondence address are also included with the article to enable readers to contact the author. Please include this, together with your job title and e-mail address.

Please submit all material to the Editor, Serials, UKSG

Serials

for the international serials community

The following information is for agents handling both membership subscriptions to the UK Serials Group (which includes the online journal, Serials) and subscriptions to the journal only on behalf of clients for 2008. Invoices will be issued following receipt of an order. Please include the following information in your catalogues.

NB: Serials is primarily an online journal, whether as part of a UKSG membership or as a subscription to Serials. For those organisations that still require a print copy please see below for details of the packages that include the print option (postage price is included). The print version of Serials cannot be ordered as a stand-alone item.

Serials Online: The journal is accessed online through MetaPress. A UKSG membership or a subscription to the journal provides access to the whole backfile (from Vol. 1, March 1988).
For details of online access please refer to: <http://www.uksg.org/serials/register.asp>

* VAT: UKSG membership attracts VAT at the full UK rate of 17.5%, as both the membership services element of the subscription and the online journal are subject to this rate. The subscription to Serials also attracts VAT at 17.5%, as the journal is provided online. Printed journals are zero-rated in the UK and the print element of the subscription rates is therefore not subject to VAT. Our VAT number is: GB 348 8541 20.
