

Contents

Editorial .....	1
Introducing our Editorial Board – Helle Lauridsen .....	3
UKSG Web 2.0 seminar
The threads of Web 2.0 Leigh Dodds .....	4
There are real people in there? Blogging at the University of Worcester Paul Williams .....	9
A parallel universe? Blogs, wikis, Web 2.0 and a complicated future for scholarly communication David Smith .....	14
General articles
Knowledge Exchange Multinational Licensing Tender: an evaluation Wilma Mossink and Max Vögler .....	19
The updated Pharmaceutical Model Licence for E-journals: a continuing collaboration between publishers and the pharmaceutical industry Philip J Ditchfield and Henning P Nielsen .....	25
Pay-per-view article access: a viable replacement for subscriptions? Clint Chamberlain and Barbara MacAlpine .....	30
How international readers view Chinese academic journals: a survey of Chinese-speaking scholars in the UK Ruoxi Li, Fytton Rowland and Jack Meadows .....	35
The new edition of the ISSN international standard makes life easier for the serials community Sophie Vincent .....	45
Long-term access to e-journals: what exactly can we promise our readers? Alice Keller, Jonathan McAslan and Claire Duddy .....	49
Key issue
CrossCheck Amy Brand .....	54
Spotlight on people
Profile: Pote N Lee .....	56
Profile: Vlastimil Ježek .....	58
People .....	60
Conference report
Summary of the ALPSP e-books seminar Fytton Rowland .....	64