

SERIALS

www.uksg.org

Contents

| | |
|--|-----|
| Editorial | 93 |
| 32nd UKSG Annual Conference | |
| There is something fascinating about science Jan Velterop | 95 |
| 2020: A Publishing Odyssey Ahmed Hindawi | 99 |
| JISC national e-books observatory: initial findings from the project and how we might use them Lorraine Estelle and Caren Milloy | 104 |
| Understanding and recognizing excellence in lean times Jay Katzen | 108 |
| 'To every thing there is a season': reflections on the sustainability of the 'big deal' in the current economic climate Jill Taylor-Roe | 113 |
| Where are library consortia going? Results of a 2009 survey Katherine A Perry | 122 |
| A personal perspective on accessing academic information in the Google era, or 'How I learned to stop worrying and love Google' Claire Duddy | 131 |
| E-books in academic libraries: lessons learned and new challenges Sarah Thompson and Steve Sharp | 136 |
| The 21st-century library: a whole new ball game? Helle Lauridsen and Graham Stone | 141 |
| The students' view | 146 |
| Quiz questions | 159 |
| General articles | |
| The UKSG TRANSFER Project: collaboration to improve access to content Ed Pentz and Louise Cole | 161 |
| Freeing up digital content with text mining: new research means new licences Alastair Dunning, Ian Gregory and Andrew Hardie | 166 |
| Portico Holdings Comparison service: are we really insured? Alison Neil | 174 |
| Review | |
| Next-generation library catalogues: review of E-LIB Bremen Martin Blenkle, Rachel Ellis and Elmar Haake | 178 |
| Key issue | |
| Mining information-seeking behaviour data to enhance library services Jenny Walker | 182 |
| Spotlight on people | |
| Profile: Tony Kidd | 185 |
| People | 187 |
| Quiz answers | 190 |
| Notes for Contributors | 191 |