
SERIALS

www.uksg.org

Contents

| | |
|--|-----|
| Editorial | 193 |
| Mini-profile: a day in the life of an e-publishing business development executive – Barbara Kaplan | 194 |
| Mini-profile: a day in the life of a scholarly information consultant – Sarah Durrant | 196 |
| General Articles | |
| An introduction to the JISC Academic Database Assessment Tool Liam Earney | 199 |
| Economists Online: user requirements for a subject repository Michelle Blake | 206 |
| Publishers for Development (Pfd): a new initiative to help researchers in developing countries Jonathan Harle and Anne Powell | 214 |
| The AuthorAID project at INASP: building on a holistic approach to research communication Julie Walker | 220 |
| Reviews | |
| The 'DOD' and 'POD' project in context at McGill: part of digitizing collections to preserve content, provide access and enrich research Janine Schmidt and Louise O'Neill | 224 |
| Print on demand (POD) from a publisher's viewpoint: the case of Taylor & Francis journals Matthew Howells | 230 |
| Key issue | |
| Usage factors Richard Gedye and Fytton Rowland | 233 |
| Spotlight on people | |
| Profile: Robert Parker | 235 |
| People | 238 |
| Notes for Contributors | 243 |
| UKSG subscription rates for 2010 | 244 |